

Contents

Foreword / vii

Preface / ix

Acknowledgements / xiii

Chapter 1 The Reluctant Birth of Medical Services in Hong Kong / 1

Chapter 2 Diseases of Venus: Prostitution and Its Control / 31

Chapter 3 The Chinese Hospital (Tung Wah):
Its Rise, Decline, and Rebirth / 55

Chapter 4 Western Medicine: A Hard Sell in Hong Kong / 81

Chapter 5 The Inconvenient Truths: Sanitation in Hong Kong / 107

Chapter 6 The “Great Dying”: Bubonic Plague / 133

Chapter 7 Plague: A Breeding Ground for Improvements in Public Health / 157

Chapter 8 Women’s Medicine: Maternal and Infant Health / 181

Chapter 9 The Three Great Killers:
Malaria, Smallpox, and Beriberi / 205

Chapter 10 A Century of Development and Achievement / 225

Appendices

Appendix 1 Medical and Public Health

Development Timeline, 1796–1941 / 253

Appendix 2 Governors, Administrators, Secretary of State for the

Colonies, and Heads of Medical Services, 1841–1941 / 265

Notes / 271

Glossary / 305

Bibliography / 309

Index / 319

The Chinese University Press : Copyrighted Materials